Emma Nash

“Her advocacy is tenacious and she’s always on top of the brief. She presents the evidence in a way that juries like.”

Chambers and Partners 2024

“Emma is hardworking and dedicated. She thoroughly prepares her cases, and her legal knowledge is sound. She pays real attention to detail and is extremely good with vulnerable and anxious witnesses. In court, she is a natural advocate and a real force to be reckoned with.”

Legal 500 2024

“A bright, capable advocate who is a forceful presence in court.”

Chambers and Partners 2023

“A fearless and enormously effective cross-examiner. She leaves no stone unturned in presenting a case to a jury. A master of her brief.”

“Very clever”

‘She is very dogged, determined and always on top of every detail in a case.’

Legal 500 (Leading Juniors) Ranked Tier 3

Emma is highly sought after and well respected with a practice which encompasses the full spectrum of serious and complex criminal cases, both prosecuting and defending. Emma is widely regarded as an outstanding jury advocate with formidable skill in cross-examination and speeches whilst being tactically astute. She is able to master complex briefs with precision and ease and her meticulous preparation of every case is self-evident.

Emma has particular expertise in cases which are sensitive or those involving the very young or vulnerable, including those with mental health difficulties and has excellent communication skills with an empathetic approach.

Hardworking and offering a high level of professional care, Emma is extremely accessible and responsive. Her down to earth, approachable manner makes her an extremely popular choice for lay and professional clients alike.

Emma was appointed a Crown Court Criminal Recorder in 2023 and is ranked in both Chambers and Partners and the Legal 500.
